Now to See About Your Suit—

And wouldn't it be a splendid idea to see about your new frocks and your coat, too, on Monday? Let this store, with its wonderfully complete stocks and its equally wonderful selections, prove its helpfulness to you.

—Come Looking Monday

We'll be glad to show you the new things that are here, and will leave it to the garments themselves to urge you to buy! Make it a point to find out for yourself why so very many women are buying their coats, their suits and their dresses at Rosenwald's.

There's a Style to the New Skirts

For Fall wear. They've come in like a cool breeze on a July day. What is prettier and more always in good taste than a smart skirt and dainty blouse? There are skirts of broadcloth and satin combined. Roman stripes, plaids, satins and serges. Several score of styles! They're really very good looking.

The pictures are attractive—unusually so—but after all, did a copy ever come up to the original? And so while you are enthusing over these illustrations remember that you will find more—worlds more—to delight you when you come to see the suits! These wonder suits (and no word but "wonder" quite does them justice) are of velvet, of broadcloth and of gabardine—some cut on straight lines, some semi-fitted—many have a little Frenchy touch here and there. Nearly all the dark, rich colors included.

Suits and What Suits at $25

We wish that we might illustrate these suits, too, but then there's a limit to space—and, anyway, the suits will surprise you all the more! The fact that they're of broadcloths and serges and poplins and that they're in all the new colors and in all sizes doesn't tell you a great deal, but it will let you know that the very suit you want is here. Come Monday and see it!

And Smart New Suits at $15

"I've a champagne taste with a rainwater allowance—and I had no idea I'd find a suit that would meet my almost impossible demands until I found these chic suits at $15.00," said a bright little matron as she purchased a smart little model of wool velour last Wednesday. Perhaps you'll like those of gabardine—or poplins—or serges, even better. They're all beauties!

RUSSIA INTENDS TO RETAIN HER GRIP ON OUTER MONGOLIA

Demands That Representatives Shall Not be Permitted to Sit in Chinese Parliament Raises a Nice Issue.

(Associated Press Correspondence)
Peking, Sept. 28.—Russia's demand that representatives of Outer Mongolia (she) not be permitted to sit in the Chinese parliament is an indication that Russia does not intend to shirk the hold which it obtained upon Outer Mongolia through its treaty with China recognizing the autonomy of Outer Mongolia in so far as domestic affairs are concerned. With Japan encroaching upon Inner Mongolia, as is indicated by the recent riot at Chinghai, and, with Russia pressing in Outer Mongolia, Chinese officials are especially uneasy about the intentions of these two powers, particularly in the light of the recent Russo-Japanese treaty in which the two countries agree not to interfere with each other's "special interest" in the far east.

Prince Koudachoff, the Russian minister, represented to the foreign office that Outer Mongolia, being an autonomous government, naturally should not participate in the Chinese parliament, but should have an assembly of its own to direct its own internal affairs. Chinese officials have, apparently, never conceded the absolute autonomy of Outer Mongolia. The foreign office is unwilling to admit that the members designated to represent Mongolia when parliament was first convened in 1912 should not now take their seats. Furthermore the question is raised as to the validity of the Russo-Japanese treaty granting autonomy to Outer Mongolia. Republic leaders say the treaty is not valid, as Yuan Shikai negotiated it without the ratification of parliament. Originally twelve Outer Mongolian senators and fifteen Mongolian representatives were designated to sit in the two houses of parliament. Ten were Chinese, five Manchus and twelve Mongolians.

COLLEGE PROFESSOR AT CORNELL COMES OUT FOR WILSON

Prof. James McMahon Issues a Strong Endorsement of the President's Policies, Hughes Lacks Constructive Program.

New York, Sept. 28.—Professor James McMahon, who occupies the chair of mathematics at Cornell University, in a statement announcing his intention to support President Wilson gave the following reasons: "In favor of the re-election of President Wilson because his administration in a great world crisis has maintained steady headed and calm among the governments of the world, the great principles of international law, and the rights of neutrals on the high seas and elsewhere and has accomplished the statesman's job in the face of determined opposition at home and abroad and in those of the main sources of political opponents who were willing to play politics in a crisis involving the peace of the world."

and it was high time to introduce some new principle of action. "Because the many constructive and forward looking achievements in legislation during the present administration, as well as its enlightened Americanism, have made powerful enemies who are determined to oppose Mr. Wilson at the polls, and because his political opponents are evidently desirous of profiting by his re-election. This fact alone should lead independent and progressive thinkers who are not tied to a party name, to rally to our president's support."

Professor Dexter Perkins and Professor Lawrence Packard, both of the department of history at the University of Rochester, have also announced their decision to support President Wilson. Both declare that Candidate Hughes is conducting a campaign which lacks in any constructive program and enthusiastically endorse President Wilson's treatment of the railroad crisis.
